

nActivity 9: Career Interview Project

FOR THE TEACHER

Introduction

The purpose of this activity is to introduce students to informational career interviews. Informational interviews allow people interested in an occupation to gather career and industry advice from professionals in the field, but are not part of the application process (i.e. they are not job interviews).

In Step 1 of the exercise, students explore one of the multimedia career interviews in Career Cruising in order to familiarize themselves with the types of questions to ask and the general approach to take. In Step 2, they take what they have learned and apply it in a “live” career interview with a parent or friend of the family.

Students completing this activity will learn about specific occupations and become more familiar with the realities and language of the workplace.

If you are short on time, you may wish to skip Step 1. Instead of having students answer the questions in Step 1, simply have them browse through a multimedia interview to familiarize themselves with the idea of informational career interviews.

Setting the Stage

Classroom discussion can focus on how to decide which career suits you. Ask students what they would do if they were interested in a career and wanted to learn more about it. What is the best way to learn more about a career? Have they ever asked their parents or friends of their family about their jobs? Explain what an informational interview is (and how it differs from a job interview).

STEP 2: LIVE INTERVIEW

Now that you have viewed one of the interviews in Career Cruising and learned about the kinds of questions you can ask in a career interview, the next step is to try an interview with an adult you know (e.g. a parent or a friend of your family).

When doing the interview, remember that it is important to be well-organized and professional. The person you interview is taking time out of his or her busy day to help you. Listen carefully to what the person says; you may be surprised by what you learn! You can use the Interview Question sheet provided to help you with the interview.
