SHOULD A STUDENT CHANGE SCHOOLS?

Changing schools can be difficult for students leaving friends, teachers and dealing with new friends, teachers, and classes.

It is usually best for your child to remain in his/her same school (the school of origin), even if you move to a different area. Here are some questions to think about when making your decision:

- How permanent is your current living situation?
- Is your child attached to his/her school? How anxious is your child because you had to move? Would changing schools be overwhelming?
- Would changing schools cause your child to fall behind in school?
- Is this a good time for your child to change schools, such as at the end of a semester or school year, after testing, or after an event that is important to your child?
- How much time would your child have to spend going back and forth to the school?

IF THERE IS A DISPUTE ABOUT SCHOOL SELECTION:

- If you and the school disagree about where your child should go to school, the school must notify you in writing why your child should attend a school other than the one you selected and how you can appeal this decision.
- Your child can still enroll, attend, and participate fully in the school you selected until the disagreement is settled.
