PLC Cycle of Continuous Improvement

1. Identify Essential Standards

2. Align to State Assessments

3. Curricular Mapping

9. Share Best Practices

4. Develop Common Formative Assessments

8. Determine Intervention Needed

5. Set Smart Goals

7. Analysis of Student Work

6. Plan/Deliver Rigorous Lessons

Goal 1: Focus on reading comprehension and writing applications across the curriculum with special attention to English Language Learners (ELs).

Rationale for Critical Need:

Over 73% of students performed in the Basic, Below Basic, and Far Below Basic categories in the English section of CST. Although our English Language Learners have shown improvement in CAHSEE, CST, CELDT and EL redesignation rates, they continually underperform when compared to other subgroups. For example, 30% of the English Language Learners passed the English portion of CAHSEE, under half of the rate of the entire sophomore class. CASHEE results show all students score lowest in reading comprehension and writing applications, therefore we need to focus on these areas in all core content areas.

ESLRs Addressed:

Effective communicators who listen, speak, read and write reflectively and critically

Critical thinkers who use application, analysis, synthesis and evaluation to solve both academic and real-life problems Self-directed adults who assess, establish and accomplish goals.

Empowered community members who maintain an informed worldview, respect cultural diversity and are technologically literate.

Goal 2: Improve students' abilities to develop and apply higher level thinking skills across the curriculum.

Rationale for Critical Need:

Standardized tests assess students' ability to reason, analyze and problem solve which requires students to use higher-level thinking skills to score Proficient or Advanced. Although 70% of students passed the CAHSEE, only 36% in English and 37% in Mathematics scored Proficient or Above. Teaching students to think and solve problems is a skill that will help them perform better on high stakes exams and in the real world.

Goal 3: Improve student learning in numerical reasoning across the curriculum with a focus on essential math skills and algebraic concepts through real-life applications.

Rationale for Critical Need:

Over 75% of all students are performing in the Below Basic or Far Below Basic category for the Mathematics section of CST. The lowest CAHSEE subtest score was found in Algebra 1, 51.3%. In our report card analysis 46.9% of grades in math courses were D's and F's. Exposing students to number sense and offering additional opportunities to use mathematical reasoning in all courses will expand their learning.

Goal 4: Develop effective communicators who listen, speak, read and write reflectively and critically.

Rationale for Critical Need:

Since teachers are working toward becoming facilitators of learning and asking students to be more involved in the learning process, we need students to be able to think, learn, and question reflectively and critically, then articulate it such as way that demonstrates good understanding and new learnings. This will also help them to be successful regardless of what path they choose after high school.

Effective communication is an essential skill needed for the 21st century. CAHSEE data indicates that we need to support students in writing conventions and writing applications since the average score in 2008 was under 60%. ??

NOTE:

This Focus on Learning Action Plan will be integrated into South Gate High School's Single Plan for Student Achievement (LAUSD) prior to the commencement of the 2010-11 academic year. The Leadership Team will be responsible for the annual evaluation and ongoing implementation of the plan.

Teachers, through their work in professional learning communities (PLCs) and school wide professional development, share best practices in all areas, including instruction, assessment, and intervention, for consistent school-wide implementation.

INTERVENTION PACKET

I. Intervention Protocol

The protocol was designed to show teachers and staff what to do when certain student behaviors occur at South Gate High School. This provides an overview of intervention procedures; the following will give examples of what to do when a student(s) exhibits a certain type of behavior:

Faculty/Staff Response
Immediately fill out a referral slip and describe the behavior thoroughly. Refer to the Intervention Office using the ODR process .
Maintain your composure. Immediately contact the main office at ext. An adult will be in the room shortly to diffuse the situation. Student will be taken to the Intervention Office and School Police will be notified and appropriate consequences will be assigned to the student.
Immediately fill out an ODR and describe the behavior thoroughly. Refer to the Intervention Office for consequences .
Immediately fill out a referral slip and describe the behavior thoroughly. Call main office for assistance. Refer to the Intervention Office for consequences .
Immediately send student to the Parent Center.
Conduct teacher-student interventions (e.g. teacher student conference, call parent, behavior reflection, etc.) If problem still persists, then refer to Counseling Office
Conduct teacher-student interventions (e.g. teacher student conference, call parent, behavior reflection, etc.) If problem still persists, then refer to Counseling Office . Counselors will then refer the student(s) to the Intervention Office , based on their assessment of the situation, for the appropriate consequences.
Conduct teacher-student interventions (e.g. teacher student conference, call parent, behavior reflection, etc.) If problem still persists, then refer to Intervention Office for consequences .

Final Thoughts: The following behaviors identified on the table above are possible examples and do not represent all of the possible behaviors students may exhibit during a school day. A few things to keep in mind with referring students:

- Refer students to the counseling office for work habits issues or emotional problems
- Refer students to the Intervention Office for disciplinary issues using ODR
- Refer students when you have executed your consequences thoroughly. Constantly referring students out of class forfeits your power.
- Always send students with a referral and/or student to ensure arrival to desired destination.

"HOME OF THE RAMS"

INTERVENTION PACKET

Behavior contracts are normally set up with a student who has been suspended from school, is an Opportunity Transfer (O.T.) from another school, or is requested by a teacher or parent due to behavior issues. The function of the behavior contract is to monitor student behavior, so that the individual may be a more effective student at South Gate High School. These contracts are done in collaboration with the parent, student, and Intervention Coordinator to ensure there is buy-in from all parties. Teachers interested in putting students on behavior contracts need to see their Counselor in the counseling office to discuss your specific needs.

TARDIES AND CAMPUS ECOLOGY

Students at South Gate High School are expected to be in class at all times. Students who are tardy to classes should be marked tardy in ISIS with the time they entered your class. When a student is marked tardy in ISIS an automated message is sent to the phone numbers on file for the specific student. These automated messages are sent out at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. on the same day of the tardy or absence.

Teachers are encouraged to implement their own tardy policy for their classrooms. If a student(s) for period one arrives late to your class, prior to 8:30 A.M., then mark him/her tardy in ISIS. After marking the student(s) tardy in ISIS, please give them the appropriate consequence based on your syllabus. Please do not send tardy students to the Main Office for blue tardy slips. Students may receive blue slips on a case-by-case basis. The supervision staff will be walking the campus to ensure students are getting to class on time and implementing unannounced tardy sweeps.
